

Author Guidelines

The aim of the journal:

The aim of the online journal MEASUREMENT SCIENCE REVIEW is to publish articles from scientific disciplines covering Measurement science, with a focus on:

- theory of measurement,
- measurement of physical quantities,
- measurement in biomedicine.

Your paper must have the character of basic scientific research in the field of “Measurement Science” (new theory, analysis, synthesis, modeling, new measurement method, new sensors, data processing, data interpretation, graphical evaluation, new results, etc.).

Peer-reviewers will evaluate all submitted manuscripts. To speed up the review process, it is recommended to propose several reviewers for each submitted paper.

Instructions for the manuscript:

You can submit your paper to Measurement Science Review in Microsoft Word (.docx) or LaTeX format. Please also submit your paper in PDF format.

The templates provide a starting point and detailed guidelines for preparing papers. Read them carefully. Make sure you have the correct template. Do not reuse your past papers as a template, even if your past papers conformed to the required format. To prepare your paper for submission, always download the most current copy of the template from the journal's website and read the formatting instructions in the template before using it for your paper. The template is used to format your paper and style the text. You must use this document both as a guide and as a template in which to type your own text.

Maximum 10 pages of A4, including title, name(s), affiliation, e-mail address.
Papers shorter than 3 pages will be accepted as "Short Communication".

Please use the page layout, font size as in the template. Do not change them.
Margins top and bottom: 2.5 cm, 2-column format. We ask for a font size of 18 points for the title, 12 points for the list of authors, 9 points for the Abstract, Keywords and captions for objects, e.g. Figures, Tables, Graphs, Equations, 8 points for the Notes under Tables and 10 points for the text.

If you use Microsoft Word, you should format your paper with the predefined styles (e.g. m_Title, m_Heading1, m_Heading2, m_Text, m_CaptionFigure, m_CaptionTable, etc.) prepared in the Word template.

For LaTeX papers please use the default environments of the LaTeX template, predefined styles are generated automatically.

Pictures, line drawings and graphs must be drawn in high quality. Figures and illustrations must be edited on a PC and placed in paper in Word format in the required location, of sufficient size according to the one or two-column layout.

Typed tables are not considered figures. They must be numbered separately (Table 1, Table 2, etc.) with captions placed above them. See templates.

Configuration of your paper:

The body of the manuscript should be preceded by an Abstract. The Abstract will be also published in the appropriate PAPER SECTION together with the names of the authors and the paper title.

The paper should be reasonably subdivided into sections and, if necessary, subsections. For scientific contributions (full papers) the following scheme is required:

Abstract - limited to about 10 lines, centered on the page.

Keywords - up to 6 items.

Purpose/Introduction - the topic of the article should be clearly defined and a short review of published essential solutions and a comparison with the authors' results should be given.

Subject & Methods - main ideas, theory, mathematical formulations, including data on measurement methods and instruments, and experimental results. This part should be accompanied by exact references.

Results - the results should be briefly summarized and main authors' scientific contributions should be demonstrated.

Discussion/Conclusions - presents a critical analysis, interpretation and evaluation of the obtained results.

Acknowledgement.

References - are cited in the text in square brackets and listed at the end of the paper in the order in which they appeared in the text. See template.

Submission:

Please submit your manuscript to Measurement Science Review via website:
